Two Are Injured In 5-Car Wreck

Two persons were hospitalized this morning at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital after having been injured in a five car smash up at North 4th and Chestnut Streets this morning at 9:14.

George Goodin, age-81, and his wife, Ethel Goodin, age 76, both of Granite City, Ill., were admitted to the hospital. Mrs. Goodin is reported to have a fracture of the right arm, but Goodin is not thought to have any serious injuries, the hospital reported at 12:45 p.m.

Four other persons were examined and treated at the hospital. They were Ewing W. Goodin of Granite City, Ill., Floella Smith Hurdley of Symonia, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Arnold of Grand Lodge, Mich. All were reported to have been x-rayed, treated, and released by the hospital. Each received bruises and other minor cuts.

Involved in the accident were Floella Smith Hurdley of Symonia Route One, driving a 1966 Chevrolet; Nellie Lay Papet of Houston, Texas, driving a 1963 Plymouth; Ewing W. Goodin of Granite City, Ill., driving a 1964 Chevrolet; Vido Marie Arnold of Grand Lodge, Mich., driving a 1964 Chevrolet II; and Howard Lawton, County of Decker, driving a 1960 Valiant owned by Boone Laundry and Cleaners.

The Papet car was reported to be going north on 4th Street and turned left into the path of the Hurdley car as it was going south on 4th Street striking it almost head-on, according to Patrolman H. E. Wilson and Brent Manning of the Murray Police Department. The Papet car then hit the rear of the Goodin car causing it to hit the Arnold car which in turn hit the Conner car. The last three cars were all going east on Chestnut Street.

Patrolman Ed Knight of the Murray Police Department was not on duty at the time, but was working at the Pure Oil Station at 4th and Chestnut when the accident occurred.

Shady Lane proceeds north off of Story Avenue.

The rest home is designed to take care of persons unable to take care of themselves or in some cases is used just as a place to live by elderly persons.

The rest home would be named the Murray Rest Home.

Three Killed, Damage High Nine On Houseboat Missing

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR
United Press International
MIAMI 87P — Huge Hurricane Betsy slammed through southern Florida with 140 miles an hour winds and heavy rain today and then headed into the Gulf of Mexico, leaving the Gold Coast a shambles.

Three deaths were attributed to the mighty storm and at least 15 persons injured. A freighter ran aground near Palm Beach, and the Coast Guard was looking for nine persons who were on houseboats.

At least 500 persons were reported marooned at various high points along the flooded east coast of Florida.

The "eye" of Hurricane Betsy ripped through the Florida Keys some 40 miles south of Miami at daybreak, churning out of the slate gray Atlantic Ocean after days of keeping the mainland guessing where she would strike.

Hammering on a due west course at about 12 m.p.h., Betsy blasted its center through Key Largo, across Florida Bay and on into the Gulf of Mexico — leaving the Gulf States wondering if she might turn and strike the mainland again.

At 11 a.m. EST, the Weather Bureau reported the center of the storm in the Gulf, about 45 miles north-northeast of Key West, near (Continued On Page Six)

The Rest & News

The Almanac

by United Press International
Today is Wednesday, Sept. 8, the 251st day of 1965, with 114 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.
The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars, and Saturn.

U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft was born on this day in 1890.

On this day in history:

In 1963, the first permanent settlement of what is now the continental U.S. was founded at St. Augustine, Fla.

In 1793, the Crimean War ended.

In 1890, some 6,000 persons were killed when a tornado and tidal wave struck Galveston, Tex.

In 1934, the U.S. liner Morro Castle burned off Asbury Park, N.J., taking 137 lives.

A thought for the day — Gen. Douglas MacArthur said: "It is fatal to enter any war without the will to win it."

OFF THE MARKET — A moon gives you a look at that girly "Stars & Stripes" which Tree Co., Inc. of Freeport, N.Y., withdrew from the market because the Daughters of the American Revolution said the girly was "shocking caricature" of the national flag.

Business Highlights

PITTSBURGH: The big question in the steel industry now is "can the cost of the new labor contract be met without general price increases?"

Some industry leaders claim the package that averted a strike will cost more than the 47.3 cents an hour that was announced that higher prices are inevitable as a result.

WASHINGTON: A new government survey indicates industry's outlays for new plants and equipment this year will be around $60.2 billion, up 13.4 per cent from last year. The last survey in May forecast a 12.3 per cent gain for the year.

WASHINGTON: U.S. exports of wheat, exceeding the official forecasts by a big margin and may reach 600 million bushels this year.

DETROIT: Auto sales in August were up 7 per cent from a year earlier and were close to the record level of 1955, industry reports show. Total sales of U.S. manufacturers for the month were 609,000 cars. Chrysler had the biggest percentage gain, 15.2, and only American Motors had a drop, of 11.4 per cent.

Be Nice To Your Pastor; A Shortage

By LOUIS CASSELL

United Press International
Be nice to your pastor, if you love him, he may be hard to replace.

According to the yearbook of American Churches, the number of congregations in this country now exceeds the number of pastors by nearly 70,000.

That doesn't mean there are 70,000 empty pulpits. One pastor may serve two or more small churches on a part-time basis. But after full allowance is made for such factors, it's obvious that a great many churches are looking for ministers.

In the Roman Catholic Church, where no parish can function without a priest, the clergy shortage is reflected in a steadily declining ratio of priests to communicants.

During the past 10 years, the membership of U. S. Catholic parishes has grown up 43 per cent, but the number of clergymen available to serve them has increased by only 22 per cent. A recent survey in a large midwestern city showed that the average parish priest was trying to care for 1,600 souls.

No improvement is in sight. Protestant seminary enrollments have hovered for the past decade around a level of 21,000 students. Since the population has been growing steadily, this must be reckoned a relative decline. Catholic seminaries are having difficulty even in maintaining a steady level of enrollments. A canvass of vocation directors points to a drop of 7 per cent in the number of youths who will begin studies for the Catholic priesthood this fall.

It's not hard to find reasons for the church's manpower crisis.

The basic one is that the Christian ministry is a calling which demands, sacrifice, self-discipline and dedication. These traits have never been commonplace in any generation; they are perhaps particularly scarce in the most affluent society the world has ever known.

Clergymen are not as poorly paid as they used to be. But a study by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics last March showed that ministers, with a median education level of 17 years of school, still rank below truck drivers, teachers, newspapermen and 241 other occupations in income.

Another reason why some fine young men who might not be deterred by the prospect of financial sacrifice—if they were convinced the ministry was their best opportunity to serve God and their fellow man.

But youth connections and college chaplains' encounter considerable doubt on that point among many young men who are seeking a challenge to which they can commit their lives. They fear that going into the ministry would condemn them to dull and irrelevant careers as chaplains to well-fed suburban families, and deprive them of a chance to be involved in such movements as the struggle for racial justice at home or the effort to raise living standards in undeveloped countries.

Another reason why some fine young men would the ministry is that they are willing to put up with the petty demands of unreasonable laymen who think that they have a right to dictate every detail of a clergyman's private life, from the kind of car he drives to the cost of his wife's dresses.

Other Factors

There are doubtless other factors. But those already listed should provide food for thought in congregations that are or may be looking for pastors. Because there are things that laymen can do to remove these stumbling blocks.

First, they can increase their giving enough to make it possible for a church to offer a pastor a reasonable professional salary.

Second, they can recognize and defend the clergyman's right to shake up the status quo where it seems to him to be evil, to speak out against social injustice without taking a poll of the congregation's prejudice, and to be as concerned about the poor people of the inner city as the balancing of the parish budget.

Finally, they can treat him as a human being whose work week is long enough without being dragged to every committee meeting, bake sale and social event; and whose family life is complicated enough without the strain of expecting his wife and children to be holier, cleaner and better-dressed than any other household in the congregation.

United Press International
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — For the second consecutive year Middle Tennessee State University will be the choice for the Ohio Valley Conference football title.

At least two teams, however, do not feel that the Blue Raiders have a lock on the championship. They are Austin Peay—who came from a dismal 1-9 season in 1963 to an 8-2 record last year—and East Tennessee State University.

Raiders coach Charles Bubba Murphy begins his 18th year at Murfreesboro this season. None of his teams have finished below second place in 10 years of OVC competition.

This year probably will be no different. Middle Tennessee has outstanding backs in quarterback Teddy Morris and halfback Bob Hodges. The Raiders are well stocked with backfield talent. Keith Atchley and Larry Deaton.

Austin Peay must find a replacement for quarterback Carlton Platt, OVC Back of the Year in 1964, but after that the Governors are in good shape.

The ground game is led by halfback Tim Chalk and fullback John Ogle. The end position is well stocked with seven returning lettermen, including Claude Clements and Ronny Parsons. Tackle Calvin Walter and Tommy Dillard anchor the line.

East Tennessee has size, good passing receiving, and a good running back in David Hopkirk—the second leading rusher in the OVC last season.

Eastern Kentucky will be rebuilding this year, but the Maroons have a top quarterback to build around in Larry Marmie. He gained 633 yards last year before an injury shelved him in the seventh game.

An improved defense, led by linebacker Dennis Bradford, will help the Maroons to a better finish than last year's seventh place.

Morehead will be counting on quarterback Mike Gottfried and top running back Thelton Johnson and Percy Brown to carry the Eagles until the defense can be stiffened.

The Eagles will resort to ball control tactics until the defensive line develops. Linebacker Mike Fletcher and Gary Vaden supply the major defensive strength now.

Coach William Tucker will depend on a new split end and a number of new backs to bring the Tennessee Tech Eagles back from the disastrous season of 1964.

Male Remains On Top Of State Heap

By BOB ORNDORFF
LOUISVILLE (AP) — Without playing a game, Louisville Male remains the number one Kentucky high school football choice of the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Male doesn't begin the present season until Saturday when they open against Louisville DeSales.

Hopkinsville, however, made a strong bid for the top spot, coming in only 16 points behind Male in this week's ratings. The Tigers moved up from third position in UPI's pre-season poll.

Hopkinsville forced its muscles last week by downing Paducah 27-7. Tighman, rated 10th in the state by UPI coaches earlier, fell to 12th position as a result.

"They're like a college team," said Howard coach Aster Stenmore of Hopkinsville. He should know—Hopkinsville defeated the Bulldogs, 28-7, in the sectional final two weeks ago.

"They just ran the game down our throat," Stenmore said. "They have the size, the speed and power, and are going to be hard to stop."

Waiting for Male

Most coaches are in agreement with Stenmore, but are waiting until Male opens its season before betting on them. The Louisville team has a storied tradition, depth, and a past record of victories that coaches feel cannot be overlooked.

But some still feel Hopkinsville will be just as good this year.

"I believe Hopkinsville can beat any team in the state this season," said Mayfield coach Vynck Shain. And he isn't the only one who feels that way.

Port Thomas Highlands was shored down to third, squeezing out Louisville Planet by a single point. Both teams had impressive victories last week. Highlands downed Dayton 36-0, and Planet defeated Pater Ryan, of Nashville, Tenn., 22-13.

Another Louisville team that has not seen action capped the fifth position. St. Xavier plays its first game Friday night against Madisonville.

Henry Clay Moves

Henry Clay's win over Bryan Station boosted the Lexington team to No. 8 in the coaches' opinion this week. Some were mildly surprised at the 27-6 margin that game since cross-city rival Bryan Station is considered a threat this season.

Madisonville moved into seventh partially on the strength of the team's 26-13 victory over Caldwell County last week.

Owensboro moved in to the number eight slot. The western Kentucky team celebrated a 34-10 win over rival Owensboro Catholic last week.

Hunting Dates Between Lakes Are Announced

FRANKFORT — Dates for dove and squirrel hunting seasons in the Land Between the Lakes have been announced by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The Land Between the Lakes is the 170,000-acre area southeast of Paducah being developed by the T. V. A. in a $35 million project as a demonstration in recreation resource development.

The dove hunting season this year will be on September 1, 4, 5 and 11, from noon to sunset. Squirrel hunters may use .22 caliber rifles and shotguns, and make take up to six squirrels per day. Doves can not be used.

Specific areas open to squirrel hunters will be designated by signs. Locations involved in the hunt are well removed from camping and other recreation facilities. T. V. A. officials emphasized.

Jim Ray Hart Loves Baseball 'Til It Hurts

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD
UPI Sports Writer
Jim Ray Hart loves to play baseball so much it hurts.

When a guy has his shoulder blade split his first day in the majors and gets his head cracked four days after he comes off the disabled list, he's got to love his work if he comes back for more.

And Jim Ray Hart keeps coming back again and again.

If it weren't for Hart's great affection for his job, the Los Angeles Dodgers would be in first place in the National League today. But the San Francisco Giants hold that lofty spot because Jim Ray Hart drove in all their runs Tuesday night for a 3-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

Hart won the game in the fifth inning after the Dodgers' Claude Osteen walked Willie Maye. The 23-year-old Hookerton, N. C., sophomore blasted his 21st home run into the outfield bleachers, thus vaulting San Francisco on top by two percentage points.

Reids Move Up

Third-place Cincinnati crept with in a half-game of the lead by downing Pittsburgh 5-0 in the only other NL game scheduled.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox blew a chance to gain ground on the idle Minnesota Twins, losing to Cleveland 9-5. The White Sox and pace-setting Twins open a two-game series Wednesday night in Chicago. In the only other AL action, Baltimore moved within 6 1/2 games of the top by sweeping a doubleheader from New York 4-2 and 3-3, and Detroit whipped Boston 5-2.

Hart singled home the first San Francisco run in the first inning after singles by Jesus Alou and Willie Maye, who collected three hits including a double, despite a bad ankle.

Hart has been on a home-hitting spree in the last three weeks that almost matches the record-setting pace Maye set in August when he slugged 17.

Jim Ray has lashed 10 four-baggers in the last three weeks, boosted his runbatted-in total to 35 and his batting average to .285.

Plagued By Injuries

Hart, who has been plagued with injuries, suffered a broken shoulder blade when he was hit by a Bob Olson fastball on July 7, 1963 — his first day in the major leagues. He returned to the active list on Aug. 12 but on Aug. 16 he was torn by a pitch from Curt Simmons and again was placed on the disabled list.

Bob Shaw held the Dodgers to five hits, including back-to-back doubles by Wes Parker and John Roseboro, to post his 15th victory against eight setbacks.

Manager Herman Franks replaced Shaw with Missouri Marston in the eighth inning with one out and the Japanese southpaw set down the Dodgers with only one hit the rest of the way.

Sunny Ellis blunked the Pirates on three singles and struck out 10 to gain his 18th victory of the season for Cincinnati. The Reds broke out with four runs in the fourth inning against Dan Christensen with a two-run double by Frank Robinson and John Edwards' 15th home run of the season the big blow.

Rally In Fourth

The White Sox staked a lead in the first inning but the Indians ruled Pioneer and loser Tommy John for five runs in a decisive fourth inning rally to take a 6-5 lead. Chicago supplanted most of the punch with a grand slam homer in the fifth. The four RBI's almost matched Salomon's previous output for the season, six. The Sox left the White Sox five games behind Minnesota and held their four-game victory streak.

The Orioles extended New York's longest losing streak in 12 years to seven games and left the Yankees on the brink of elimination from the AL pennant race. Just one more New York loss or Minnesota victory will end the Yankees' chance for the flag.

Sam Brown's two-run homer in the opener provided the victory margin for Dave McNally, who won his eighth game with relief from Don Lerner and Stu Miller. Wally Bunker retired the first 13 Yankees in the nightcap while his teammates slugged out 12 of their 16 hits to build up a 6-0 lead. Boor Powell homered with a man on and Charlie Len drove in three runs in the out.

Ray Oyler slugged a double with two out in the seventh inning off inner Bill Morabosquette 8-18 to drive in the winning run for Detroit and snap Boston's four-game winning streak. Norm Cunniff slugged a two-run homer in the first for Detroit. Terry Fox shutout Boston for the last 4 1/3 innings in relief of Julio Navarro and received credit for the victory.

Dear Abby . . .

Double Standard?

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last week my husband and I gave a housewarming party in our first new home. We sent out invitations to 16 couples saying it was a housewarming. Everyone came, but only one couple brought a gift. I was so hurt and embarrassed I didn't know what to think. Yesterday one of my friends told me she would have brought a gift, but out of the 16 couples invited, only one brought a gift. I was so hurt and embarrassed I didn't know what to think. I was so hurt and embarrassed I didn't know what to think.

DEAR NOT UP: "Etiquette" is a matter of common sense. When friends call on a couple in their new home for the first time, it's customary to bring a gift. Your friend, the self-appointed authority on etiquette, could not even point out what's proper. However, if you gave the party only to harvest the gifts, she was fair.

DEAR ABBY: I'm just curious. I have an aunt and uncle who were married for 40 years and they are now getting a divorce. Is this a record?

AMAZED AND ASHAMED

DEAR A. AND A.: I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: Rose (fictional name) and I were childhood friends. Today she is very wealthy and I am a working widow. We're both in our late 60's. When Rose's husband died four years ago, I went to her apartment every day after work to help her bear her sorrow. With me she could be herself, and out "Mrs. Park Avenue" as she had to be with her city friends. With all her money and leisure, Rose has never spent five cents for a birthday card for me. When I saw she acted like she had just seen me yesterday.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I gave a party at my home for a large group of women. Before going home, at least six women asked me for some cake and sandwiches (and even asked to take home to their husbands and children).

DEAR DOORMAT: Yes, drop her. Otherwise admit that you enjoy being a doormat.

DEAR ABBY: I am thrilled when my guests enjoy the refreshments I serve, and I want them to eat their fill. But I despise me when they expect me to send home enough food for them to feed their families. I have children who enjoy leftover cake and sandwiches, too. It seems that some people just want an extra meal for nothing. Please put this in your column for people who make a habit of doing this. And sign me "SICK OF PLOS".

Now, Abby, I am thrilled when

Thompson-Workman Wedding Vows Read

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lynn Workman

Miss Mary Jane Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ralston Thompson of Ripley, Tenn., was married Sunday afternoon, August 26, to Richard Lynn Workman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynn Workman of Murray.

The ceremony took place at four o'clock at the First Methodist Church with Rev. Bevington Farnsworth officiating. Music was provided by Mrs. Joe W. Wilcox, organist, and Mrs. Gertrude Brown, Jr. of Memphis, soloist. Her vocal numbers were "I Love Thee" and "One Hand One Heart" and at the close of the ceremony a wedding prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of silk organza designed by Miss Betsy with a beaded neckline and brief sleeves. The fitted, empire bodice was beautifully appliqued with silk satin roses and a train cascaded from many petite covered buttons at the back of the waist. Her silk illusion veil fell from a crown of orange blossoms.

The bride's bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids and tube roses tied in tiny satin ribbon lovers knots was attached to the bride's mother's white sash. Her only ornament was a pearl pendant, gift of the groom.

The church was beautifully decorated with one center arrangement of white gladioli and full mums. This arrangement was flanked by branched candelabras entwined with smilax, fern balls, greenery, and cathedral candles. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbon, magnolia leaves and tuberoses.

Miss Jennie Lou White served as maid of honor, bridesmaid included Miss Clay Brown, cousin of the bride of Evansburg, Miss Claire Frances Dumas, Miss Leah Workman, sister of the groom of Murray, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Ginger Grant of Alamo.

The bride's attendants wore pale linen floor length gowns embroidered in white floras having white velvet bands at the waist. Their gowns had scooped necklines, short sleeves and sheath skirts. They wore white daisy and green velvet headpieces with white ribbons. They carried majestic daisies in natural straw baskets with ivy trailing from them.

Steve Williams of Murray was the groom's best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Tommy Thompson, brother of the bride, Jerry Owens, John Weatherly, and Glenn "Butch" Turner, all of Murray.

Mrs. Thompson mother of the bride was attired in jade green chiffon with matching Irish lace trim and was wearing a white orchid. The groom's mother, Mrs. Workman chose a beige lace and chiffon suit and a white orchid completed her costume. Mrs. Robert Milton Brown of Jackson, grandmother of the bride, wore a blue printed silk and a white carnation corsage on her shoulder.

Reception
Mr. and Mrs. Thompson entertained with a reception in the Fellowship Hall immediately following the wedding.

The bride's table was overlaid in white satin and tulle and the five tiered wedding cake having a miniature bride and groom standing between columns and topped with wedding bells was placed on a reflector on the table.

The punch table was covered with a yellow satin cloth and overlaid with white tulle, using daisies and white ribbons at the corners of the table and centering the table was an antique gold candelabra with white candles, marine puffs and tiny majestic daisies, and frosted green grapes trailing from it onto the table.

From this table white grape juice punch was served from an crystal bowl by Mrs. Rice Pierce of Nashville and deigned cake squares were served by Mrs. Johnny Groom of Belk. The tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Phillip Rogers, sister of the groom of Murray and Mrs. Gertrude Brown, Sr.

Others assisting were Miss Nancy Parsons, Miss Patricia Enoch, Miss Carol Massey, Miss Elizabeth Scott, Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Arthur Thompson, Mrs. J. T. Morgan, Mrs. James Grant, Mrs. Willie Brown, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. Francis Thompson, Mrs. Raymond Webb, and Mrs. Cecil Massey who played for the reception. Little Lou and Jean Yarnall of Paducah gave yellow tie bags to the guests from baskets.

Miss Linda Enoch presided at the guest register where a yellow anniversary candle was placed along with the bride's book.

Many candelabras with glowing candles were placed in the reception hall along with baskets of yellow and white gladioli, and the candelabras were interspersed with ivy and colemanis.

For the wedding trip the bride chose an original mademoiselle arlette costume suit of turquoise silk linen with the jacket featuring a low rounded neckline with a touch of peacock brown trim. She wore matching hat, shoes and bag with a white orchid on her shoulder. The bride and groom will live in Lexington, Kentucky, where the groom will be a student at the University of Kentucky Dental School.

Many relatives and friends attended the wedding from Murray and Louisville, Ky., Gallatin, Tenn., Nashville, Lexington, Jackson, Belk, Alamo, Evansburg, Covington, and Memphis, Tenn.

Tanker Goes Around
Bey's receding winds drove a 441-foot Panamanian tanker, the Amariya, around near the Lake Worth inlet south of Palm Beach. The Coast Guard said it was helped to aid the vessel while the hurricane raged.

The storm, which had kept the whole Atlantic coast guessing for days about its destination, finally came roaring out of the ocean just as day was breaking. Meteorologists forecasted the storm would move westward at about 12 miles per hour. Bey tossed its tale winds as much as 300 miles in all directions.

The screaming winds, clocked as high as 110 miles per hour in the Miami area, slammed into the plush Miami Beach hotel row and left it a shambles of smashed glass, ripped awnings, debris, and water.

First reports of injuries in the hurricane area were light. There was one death — ironically on the shore remote west coast of Florida where advance 35 mile per hour winds topped a tree that killed man as it fell. In Miami, one man had a foot severed by flying glass.

Main Streets Inundated
Collins Avenue past the famed Miami Beach hotels was a mess of debris. In Miami, Biscayne Boulevard was under water in places and at one spot where a sea wall was reached by leaping waves in Biscayne Bay, murky 50-million oil drums floated across the street.

Causesways between Miami and Miami Beach were inundated in low-lying areas.

At 7 a.m. EST some two hours after the center of the storm reached the Keys, the Weather Bureau reported the eye had moved on to a position in Florida Bay on the Gulf side of the Keys, some 50 miles south-southwest of Miami.

With the eye at latitude 25.1 north, longitude 81.5 west, the storm was headed due west — still a massive giant that could become a threat to states bordering on the Gulf of Mexico.

At that time, the eye was so large that it stretched from Flamingo at the tip of Everglades National Park on the southern coast of Florida to within 25 miles of Key West.

Key Largo Battered
Key Largo, the bulleypoint on Bey's erratic course to the mainland, underwent the wild fury of the storm's peak 140-mile-per-hour winds, then moved for two hours in the dead calm of the eye of the hurricane, and then took another battering from the other side of the storm.

More than 18,000 persons, according to the Red Cross, had taken shelter from the storm in 147 special shelters on the East Coast. Uncounted other thousands left the danger areas and held up inland.

As the height of the storm's fury began to abate slightly in Miami, reports began pouring in of widespread damage from Palm Beach south to the Keys.

In the lobby of one of Miami Beach's most sumptuous hotels, the Deshouille, 12-by-16-foot plate glass windows were blown out and sea-spray plus rain being driven almost level with the ground came in to flood the abandoned lobby.

City Offices Flooded
The water stood three feet deep in many sections of Biscayne Boulevard. South Bayside Drive was flooded nearly to the rooftops of slanting automobiles. Many of the buildings containing the offices of Miami's city government were flooded and so were numerous other buildings along this city's palm-lined waterfront thoroughfares.

A survey of Miami Beach by civil defense units assumed damage to the famed hotel strip "apparently worse" than that caused by Hurricane Glee last year.

"There is six feet of water in some of the beach hotels," the report said.

Extensive beach erosion and damage to sea walls; telephone and power lines and power transformers down in many places, the civil defense officials reported.

Miami Beach counted eight injured persons, most of them hurt by flying glass. Six were hospitalized. But civil defense workers reported no fatalities and no major
